"ANDES, AMERICA"

"What's more American than a meat sandwich? Or the figure of a lone cowboy standing tall against a vast landscape. What's more American than a barn door or the girl next door or the moon landing? What's more American than Upstate NY?"

Alex Moore and Corner Gallery proudly present "Andes, America", a captivating group photography show featuring the iconic works of Richard Prince, Roe Ethridge and Jordan Wolfson alongside a selection of talented emerging photographers. This exhibition delves into the multifaceted essence of Americana, offering a diverse array of perspectives on the cultural and social landscape of the United States. From the nostalgic to the contemporary, "Andes, America" captures the spirit and complexity of American life through compelling visual narratives that invite viewers to reflect on the ever-evolving identity of the nation.
